Dear Bentley:

In the August 1955 Harpers, Alang^{*}Gregg had an article 'When to change jobs and why' that I found rather interesting, enough so that I asked him for a 'reprint'.

It also occurred to me that it might interest the editors of Science as a lead article, if it could be reprinted. I asked Dr. Gregg about that, whether he had ever thought of it; his reply was that he was quite amenable to such an idea, but didn't have the time to arrange with Harper's about the copyright. [So I suspect he would approve if he didn't have to work on it].

The 'reprint' he sent me was the enclosed, an original version which appeared as shown. I am only forwarding this to you with the thought you might be interested to take it up; if not it need go no further.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
